THE ADOPTION OF STRANGE WOMEN

Men and brethren of Yisrael: As you may know, Torah law speaks of a well-defined method of granting citizenship in the Hebrew Yisraelite Kingdom to the foreigner and the stranger, by way of a kind of naturalization process (Exod. 12:43-51). And this YAH-ordained order includes strange women; even those from conquered nations (Deut. 21:10-14).

Now consider, akhim: If a strange woman (a whore, a foreigner, or a heathen) should submit to that process – like Rahab the harlot for example, who is an ancestress of Christ Himself – such a woman may in fact become a citizen in good standing in the set-apart Kingdom, as did our beloved Egyptian sister.

So then, should a Yisraelite man accept such a woman as a 'concubine'?

That decision must be according to the particular man, based on his own specific household and circumstances. And should such a woman dwell as a concubine in the same house with a wife, or wives? This servant, for one, would not do that personally; nor would I advise any brother to do so. But I would certainly admonish the brethren, that each of us must be mindful not to add to, nor take away from Torah Law, based on personal marital frustration or bitterness (Deut. 4:2).

Now to be sure, according to the Torah – our Instructions – Yisraelite men must not under any circumstances be required to marry strange women. Neither shall we be expected to adopt bastard children into our families. However, as faithful sons of YAH, we must never codify an anti-Torah, man-made disqualification for making wives of such women; nor for the divine legitimizing of fatherless children in Christ.

Behold, brethren: Along with the restoration of Kingdom polygyny, restoring a Kingdom vetting and sanctification order in Yisrael is indeed another key to unlocking the family-busting strongholds of fatherlessness and feminism among our people; within Torah-prescribed guidelines for the legal and lawful process of naturalization.

May His Grace and Peace Be Unto You!

IT'S KINGDOM TIME.
